Take this time to realize that you always shed your eyes in the midst of trail and everything is always right
and i think that its time this battle must be won but you push it aside
push it aside pretend that its gone

this circle never ends
and its time you just face it dont pretend
that its over

that you always force a smile in the midst of trial
and everything is always right

that its over

and it never ends
it never ends
no it never ends

its over
