

Curl Up And Die

"Total Pandemonium"

We set our heads to rest and fall out of form
and grow numb enough to never move again.
we lose our sights and these roses no longer blossom.
i fail to hear these sounds now.
tightly our hands felt for each other's when we said goodbye.
the exquisite architecture ruined our blessed nights
and we can no longer pretend.
for months for these memories to melt away
at the most awkward of moments.
this is my last word, my lost love.
we will never meet again.
