

Curl Up And Die "Watch Your Face"

Visit "Watch Your Face" on MotoLyrics.com

i didn't really need an explanantion when half of the time i was wondering if we were both in this the way i was if every second you were thinking of me when all i was thinking about was you sometimes i truly wish that i wasn't real sometimes i'd wish that they would remember the five hundred million dead because when you were off alive i'd lie here in my own blood the blood you'd wash away every single time right before i'd fall just far enough into being the model they created me to be sometimes i'd wish that they would remember themselves that was only half of the time though.

. . .you better watch your face.

Visit Curl Up And Die page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.