If I could tell you how I feel
Would you understand me
Or would you leave behind the past that's eating me inside
Wasn't it plain to see
Lets not fight tonight
Im sorry things went wrong
Lets just forget about it
Words can be so strong
And I know that youve been there
So many times youve cared
So many things weve shared
How could I tell you
If I could change for anyone
It could be for you
It might be for you
Standing on thin ice
The expected has failed twice
I should of learned by now
What goes up comes back down
And I know that youve been there
So many times youve cared
So many things we shared
How could I tell you
Seventeen again
If I were seventeen again
I wont let you down
Once forgotten now found
Hold on for the stretch
Cause therell be no regrets
Try and catch your breathe
There will be no regrets
