

Passenger

"Whispers"

Visit "Whispers" on MotoLyrics.com

I've got open eyes,
And an open door,
But i don't know what i'm searching for.
I should know by now.

See i've a big old heart,
This i know for sure,
But i don't know what my love is for.
I should know by now.

You see i wait in line,
So i can wait some more,
'Till i can't remember what i came here for,
But i can't leave now,
Cause i've a light that shines,

And a love so pure,
But i don't know what to use them for.
I should know by now.

Well i spent my money,
I lost my friends,
I broke my mobile phone,
3am and i'm drunk as hell,
And i'm dancing on my own,
Taxi-cabs aint stopping, and i dont know my way home,
Well it's hard to find a reason, when all you have is doubts,
Hard to see inside yourself when can't see your way
out,
Hard to find the answers when the question won't come
out,

Everyone's filling me up with noise,
i don't know what they're talking about (x3),
See all i need is a whisper in a world that only shouts.

Visit Passenger page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

