"Game Over"

Sitting on a train today
With the scattered thoughts of mine
Just can't realize
The moment's over

Trying to hold on to myself
With this heavy heart inside
The only mistake
I let you go away

And yesterday
When everything was waiting for me
I childishly was hiding from the precious moment

I let precious days go by
Now it's too late
Stakes I've played
And you're away

Still here on the train I am
With those moments passed me by Making me understand
The time is out now

And afterwards
It's so easy to be wise with advice
So little that I did
So much I left undone

I let special days go by
Now it's too late
Stakes I've played
And you're away
The game is over

I let precious time go by
For me it's too late
Did not play my cards in time

See those days have passed me by
It's too late to ask me why

See those moments passed me by
And I know the reason
And I know the reason why

I let precious days go by
Now it's too late
Stakes I've played
And you're away
The game is over

I let special time go by
For me it's too late
Did not play my cards in time

The game is over
The game is over
The game is over
The game is over

No
The game is over
