It's hard to build a better nation with different nations
When every day we're at war with newly [sic] faces
No godly love, but there is always a daily grace
And nothing could erase each night's horrible traces

Yet they talk about love, they talk about love
They talk about love, they talk about love, love, love,
sweet love

Day in, day out, the nation fights for more power
(brotherly love)
But it's easier to write a story in a longer hour
No brotherly love, no sisterly love for their own
And it took a miracle to put love into heritage

Yet they talk about love, they talk about love
They talk about love, they talk about love, love, love,
sweet love

Day in, day out, the nation fights for more power
(brotherly love)
But it's easier to write a story in a longer hour
No brotherly love, no sisterly love for their own
And it took a miracle to put love into heritage

Yet they talk about love, they talk about love
They talk about love, they talk about love, love, love,
sweet love

Yet they talk about love, they talk about love
They talk about love, they talk about love
Talk about love...
