You've got to find the heart that was meant for you
If you want to be happy and never be blue
You've got to search and search the whole world
through
Till you find the one, that very special one

No use trying with what you've got
No love will come that way
And no excuse for love when things get hard
You'll be the one to pay

So you must be sure you know just what to do
If you want to be happy and never be blue
You've got to search and search the whole world
through
Till you find that one, that very special one

No use trying with what you've got
And no excuse for love when things get hard
You'll be the one to pay

So you must be sure you know just what to do
If you want to be happy and never be blue
You've got to search and search the whole world
through
Till you find that one, that very special one

No use trying, it won't work out...
