So much to write
So little time
How can I pinpoint our love
In just a few lines
I'll start with the first time we both kissed
The rain poured down when we touched lips

All I know (x3)

And I know it's late and
My voice is cracking
And I'm singing out of key
But you don't care about all these things
You just want me to sing you to sleep

So let's grab the blanket
And wrap ourselves up so tight
We'll lay hand in hand closer on
My driveway tonight

And it's the best we've ever came to
Being close to perfect (x2)

All I know
And I know they say that we're too young
But who are they to say at all (x2)

And I know it's late and
My voice is cracking
And I'm singing out of key
But you don't care about all these things
You just want me to sing you to sleep

You wear a heart shaped ring
Wrapped around your finger
And a sparkle in your eye and I'd never change it
When I gave you that rose what I said was true
Because it's still alive and I will always love you.
