Submerged.

I'm still sinking, to the bottom.

These currents have been over my head, for so long,
I can barely see the light.

I can barely breathe.

Out from these cracks that we've lived in for so long,
away from you, away from the light.

We're still here, bruised and broken.

We've taken this fall together.

We can't give up, we're still here.

I can't give up, I'm still here.

Out from these cracks that we've lived in for so long,
away from you, away from the light.

It's not my first time being like this.

It's not my first time being like this.

I'm still sinking, at the bottom.

But we're still here.

We are a shipwreck, to his perfection.

We are a shipwreck, and I'm the worst.
