

Patricia Kaas

"Alone"

Visit "Alone" on MotoLyrics.com

(Diane Birch/Blair Mackichan)

This day's crumbling all round me started when you invited me for tea.

What a mistake I should have known
You'd kick off over nothing, I watch you explode.

It starts with a kick to the wall, what would the neighbours think ?

It ends with us both on the floor and before I can blink
You go mental I go home 'cause I need to be alone.

Taxi's waiting right outside, then you decide you're going to be nice.

What a surprise, I should have known
You'd turn into an angel while I explode.

It starts with a kick to the wall, what would the
neighbours think ?

It ends with us both on the floor and before you can
blink
I go mental you stay home 'cause you need to be alone.

Alone, we should have known
We really should stay sober when we explode.

It starts with a kick to the wall, what would the
neighbours think ?

It ends with us both on the floor and before we can
blink

We go mental we go home 'cause we need to be alone.

It starts with a kick to the wall, what would the
neighbours think ?

It ends with us both on the floor and before we can
blink

We go mental we go home 'cause we need to be alone.

Visit Patricia Kaas page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

