this is my home you made it a strange place .
I've seen more hypocrisy from the working man up to the mighty all taught to worship greed.
tell me where they are going for i just cannot see.
i hope we find a way and reason to ensure that we don't
live in a strange place anymore.
how high we fly , now time to look inside.
a distorted and monstrous greed to gather all we see.you'll have to suffer little children for nobody may heed.
i hope we find away and reason to ensure that we don't
live in a strange place anymore.
i hope we find a way and reason to ensure that we don't
live in a strange place anymore.
we walk and we talk those little white lies but it still ain't the place that i saw with my eyes.
got a new ideal a god thats real,
a temple to count in for all to kneel, as the dinosaur of our decency it just thrashes and dies in agony. what i thought is correct has been taken away,this is a strange place today.
