You always hurt the one you love
The one, the one you should not hurt at all
Let me tell you, you always take the sweetest rose
And crush that little thing you kind of walk all over it
Until those petals start to fall

You always break the kindest heart
With a hasty word, with a hasty word you never ever did recall
No, you never did because you know
If, if I broke your heart last night
It's because I love you, I love you, I love you most of all

Well, you always hurt the one you love
The one you should not hurt at all
And you always take the sweetest rose
And you crush it till those petals start to fall

And you always break you break the kindest heart
With a hasty word, such a hasty word you can't recall
So if, let me tell you if I broke your heart last night
It's because I love you most of all
