Before I met you
My life had not begun
Then your world and my world
Exploded into one
Every thought that you had
And every word you said
Sounded so familiar
Like a poem I'd just read

They say it's written in the sky
That love like ours should never die
You were always right there in my heart
Minutes away or miles apart

But now our world is changing
And we can't find our way
To see love clearly
Gets harder day by day
I come home and I find you
Asleep in bed
Don't think I can't feel
The doubts inside your head

How come it's written in the sky
That love like ours should never die
When all we do is break each others' hearts
Minutes away or miles apart?

Back to our own worlds
It's hard to watch you drifting away

How come it's written in the sky
That love like ours should never die
When all we do is break each others' hearts
Minutes away or miles apart?
Minutes away or miles apart
