Fill my cup to the top with running water
Call me out and show me how

I called on you lately come on and rescue me
I feel like a calendar from another year
This barren ground these bones are dry and ready
I break bread and wine but still I'm feeling empty

Sick of this see-saw of going up and down
I see the rescue but would I rather drown?
Love is a lesson that I never learned in school
I was sick in bed that day and so I played a fool
(fool)

I feel light I could float right up to you
Like a bridge that's connecting the water
