ICE AGE

music and lyrics by Mike Hudson

In this desert I have known
I am a nomad, I'm alone
My head feels like a tundra
For your heart beats like a stone
My world inside is crowded
With memories of love
That never reached fruition
And it never was enough

Love has hands are cold as ice
I melt inside my mind
Love is like a wasteland
Good woman hard to find

Could this be the Ice Age come again
It used to be that we were more than friends
But now your breath is like a chilling wind
I can feel the Ice Age coming in

My vision is obscured now
But I've walked this road before
Then it strikes like lightning
In a never ending war
The feeling's so transparent
It shatters in the sun
What is there remaining
When all is said and done

Love has eyes are winter skies
That cut into my heart
I can feel the pain so real
It's tearing me
It's tearing me apart
