Talk to me and tell me what you think of all these stars
I know it's hard for you to find the time to come this far
But I'm glad that you do and I'm glad that I do too Because I know I'll feel fine when I'm with you

Tell me once again, just how long has it been?
It's alright 'cause we got time right now
To sit and talk and dream and walk to wherever our path begins
And I know that I'll see you again
Because with us there's no end

You and I have had good times that no one can erase
I can't recall a time that we found hard to face
You tell me that the stars are nice but they're not what's in your heart
It's for the people that you love that you come this far
