You float, you float across the sea
They say you're guaranteed
You've transcended
And you fly, you fly across the sky
Your arms are open wide
You've transcended
You've transcended

Go, child
Go and find the arms that warm you
You know, child
Know no one will ever harm you
You've run wild
And finally found the thoughts that calm you
Waiting for silence to call

In space, you can barely breathe
I tell you what you'll need
To transcend it
If you hold to another soul
And when they let you go
You'll transcend it
You'll transcend it

Go, child
Go and find the arms that warm you
You know, child
Know no one will ever harm you
You've run wild
And finally found the thoughts that calm you
So stretch out, stretch out and smile

With faith, you can barely speak
I tell you what you'll need
To transcend it
The night, the night is closing in
You feel it on your skin
Transcend it
As you hold to another soul
And if they let you go
Transcend it
And in space, you can barely breathe

I tell you what you'll need
To transcend it

In space, well you can barely breathe
Well, you can barely breathe
Well, you can barely breathe
