Where has life led me?
Have I ended up somewhere that I'm soon to be regretting?
Coz my heart was heavy
But right now it doesn't feel at all like I'm back in the past
In this place and these faces in front of me (oh)
And they all just look so familiar (so familiar)
But somehow on my journey I ended up somewhere
I feel I belong

[CHORUS]

Feels like I walked a million miles
So far away, so many trials
Happy to see with open eyes
So good to be,
Back from alone
Didn't realize the missing piece
Was me all along but now I see
And you're still waiting here for me
So good to be
Back from alone

I could tell you stories
Looking back I can things coming
But it must have been before me
No sacrifice, no glory
I admit I gave a lot more than I really had
But it's for the best now
Sometimes getting back what you want
Takes some heartache, sense and letdowns
I feel so refreshed now
But the difference is this time it will last
No going back
Couldn't figure it out for the life of me
Why I always felt out of place and Where I was never felt like it's comfortable
Now I see that I made it home

Feels like I walked a million miles
So far away, so many trials
Happy to see with open eyes

So good to be
Back from alone
Didn't realize the missing piece
Was me all along but now I see
And you're still waiting here for me
So good to be
Back from alone

Been away, too long
I forgot how good it feels
To be back to what is real
I wish I never left
No more pain, no more tears,
Im just glad that Im back again
All the places have come and gone
So glad to be back from alone

Feels like I walked a million miles
So far away, so many trials (I made it home)
Happy to see with open eyes
So good to be (Im so far away)
Back from alone
Didn't realize the missing piece
Was me all along but now I see (now I see)
And you're still waiting here for me
So good to be
Back from alone

So good, so good, back from alone.
