["thinking about such a rare night at my own house with my girl and my dog. alice having made dinner and we got dressed up to have a nice meal 'cause i was leaving the next day and everything was so perfect and i knew that it would never last; and i guessed it would never come again and realizing this, i never wanted to leave this moment, and i thought that i wanted to die because that was it."]

If i stay too long
Would you ask me not to go?
When i squeeze to hard
Would you stop and tell me so?
I never seem to know
If i push to far, babe
It just don't make things right tonight
If just tonight, everything's all right

I hope i die tonight
Everything's too perfect now
My breath away
Goin' in one direction-- you
Hope i die tonight

A bitter fruit to swallow
Are you afraid to take it whole?
A simple truth to follow
A simple truth we'll never know
The simple things we just let go
I bite my tongue to speak now
Afraid that this will go too fast
These perfect moments never last

And if i die tonight
That would be all right with me
My breath away
Goin' in one direction-- you
Hope i die tonight
Everything is easy here
Hope i die tonight
Better that than without you

Hope i die tonight

Why is my heart always angry
My heart is always filled with rain
Your kisses seem to warm the rain

Don't believe in morning
Never see it anyway
There is no tomorrow
And there never was today
Let's burn tonight, not fade away

I hope i die tonight
Everything's too perfect
Now my breath away
Goin' in one direction-- you
Hope i die tonight
Everything is easy here
I hope i die tonight
Better that than without you
I hope i die tonight yeah

Never fade away, no
