So many of us breathin' and thinkin' that we know it all Walkin' like we are the righteous forgettin' man's fall
Caused pain in the womb and still men labor in vain
While their pride's in the way death invented the tomb
But we can overcome these tragedies in humanity by lookin' at life through the lens of the Almighty
Who manifest and died in flesh for our destiny
I have learned a lesson
From all the lessons I have learned
Our lives have purpose
Unless we forget to send the message
To the wanderers (wanderers)
And the dreamers (dreamers)
To all the people with your beamers (come come come)
Come come come, come out your cages called offices
And (pop pop pop) pop the bubbles that you're in
Whether you're black, white, brown, gay, or muslim (Where you from, where you from kid) Buddhist or Christian
Come come come, come out your cages
What, what, and engage this chorus: Engage (come on) Engage (come on) Engage (come on)
Tell your story to the world Engage (come on) Engage (come on) Engage (come on)
Let your actions speak love (2 x)
Hey, what's your name
Where are you from
What's on your mind
Your eyes are tellin' me your numb
From the streets and the static and memories in your attic
We've all got a scar but there's no need to panic
So many forgettin' and lettin' the souls go by
When all it would've taken is a few words to satisfy
I am not afraid
Of the universe
You are freedom I have liberty
To the homeless in San Francisco
And the writers in L.A.
To the suits in New York

The message remains the same
To the wanderers (wanderers)
And the dreamers (dreamers)
To all the people with your beamers (come come come)
Come come come, come out your cages called offices
And (pop pop pop) pop the bubbles that you're in
Whether you're black, white, brown, gay, or muslim
(Where you from, where you from kid) Buddhist or
Christian
Come come come, come out your cages
What, what, and engage this
CHORUS (2 x)
I am not afraid
Of the universe
We cannot forget
To send the message of
