You dont remember me but I remember you
It was not so long ago you broke my heart in two
Tears on my pillow pain in my heart caused by you

Did you forget girl all the times you spent in the past Making promises that our love together would last forever

Any day at least we planned it that way
Holding hands in the hood way back in the day
Or in the homie Chevrolet together close in the back seat
Pumpin those cruisin always damn they sounded so sweet

Like Little Anthony with tears on my pillow
Those jams of the past seem to know the I feel YO
You are my girl baby girl you were my world
I didnt know how to go on without you girl
But it's okay I think it's better this way
I know ima make it without you someday someway

You dont remember me but I remember you
You dont remember me but I remember you
You dont remember me but I remember you
You dont remember me but I remember you

All the pain in my past made me a cold-hearted man
Breaking hearts along the way was my only plan
And then I met you dressed in baby blue
And this crazy young bato didnt know what to do?
I was breaking all the rules was I falling in love?
It seemed you were an angel sent from heaven above

And just the slightest touch sent chills through my spine
You werent like the other highness you were so sweet and so fine
All mine at least that's what I thought until you left me
And my heart just dropped
But it's alright now

I found a lover of my own and we're happy together
Now you're the one alone YEAH

You dont remember me but I remember you
You dont remember me but I remember you
You dont remember me but I remember you
You dont remember me but I remember you

It was not so long ago you broke my heart in two
Tears on my pillow pain in my heart caused by you
