heading south the compass reads look at our speed.. we're going sixty three look out the window as the trees go green i look at them and they look at me got Neil Young on a stereo he comes along whenever i go something different as i hear him now heading south on off familiar route i can feel the lifting of my blues i can see you at the horizon new i got the feeling i just cant lose pulling into santa cruz.. yeaah i got an old friend he remembers me from way back when we were seventeen we got kids and we're older now but when i see him we're still seventeen i need the beach to set me free i need the wind to make me breathe i need the water to wash my soul i need my loved ones to let me go

i got the feeling that i just cant lose pulling into santa cruz.. yeaahh.. oh yeah..

up in the north west we got it good a little soggy but we've got it good can't help thinkin that i wish i would move my ass down to santa cruz
pulling into santa cruz
i gotta feeling that i just cant lose
pulling into santa cruz
i gotta feeling i don't wanna lose pulling into the cruz
pulling into santa cruz... yeaahh yeaahh.. yeah.. yeaahhhh ahhh.. ahaahh....
