

Pedro Guerra

"Criticism As Inspiration"

Visit "Criticism As Inspiration" on MotoLyrics.com

I saw in your bedroom
The drawers had been emptied
Looking for answers
But you won't admit it now
You don't need a reason
That's what you tell me
But I still don't buy it
Drink yourself silly
Night after night

It makes me feel so good
To always tell you when you're wrong
The big man that I am
To always have to put you down
Put you down

Then there's your girlfriend
She opens her legs and
Gives your life meaning
Is that what you love her for
The angels are always looking down
He's perfect with a frown
The bully always wins

It makes me feel so good
To always tell you when you're wrong
The big man that I am
To always have to put you down
Put you down

It makes me feel so good
To always tell you when you're wrong
The big man that I am
To always have to put you down
It makes me look so good
To always put you in your place
I can write it in a song
But never say it to your face
To your face

