Die to be reborn, I must turn this thing around turn this thing around Die to be reborn, I must turn this thing around, I must turn this thing, I Can't find a way
This is the perfect life, the life that's born from imperfection, I will Embrace disappointment Die to be, I must find a way, I must turn this thing around, I must turn This thing
To mend the life that's torn
This is the perfect life, the life that's born from imperfection, I will Embrace
Between two headland points lies the bay of Skail, escape from the Mainland, here could tell some tales
Where the wind whips up the waves white horses see the brave, the orcas Come here every year
This is the cradle of man, and seen many tears
Where the wind whips up the waves white horses see
the brave
It is clear this is so, will this strange grief ever let me go?
the brave
