

Pensive "January Embers"

Time has no meaning anymore
I cannot see, I cannot breathe
My heart has been ripped to shreds
And the sun has set on all I know.

Light the fires of the night
Watch the flames flicker down
January embers smashed against the wall
Forever broken in two million pieces.

Lost inside this dream.

The snow falls all around
As my tears stain the ground
A piercing glow from the sapphire.

It's like breathing underwater

Silver blue
And everything has turned to black.

The stars above no longer shine
The sky is falling down around me
Darkness fills all corners of my eyes.

I'm lost in this dream.

The snow falls all around
As my tears stain the ground
A piercing glow from the sapphire.

The screaming sound of wind
Wings of the seraphim
The world around me is on fire.
