Looking through the moonlight baby, and what do I see Reflections of the times we had,
and how it used to be Two lovers that were looked as one as one looked to be loved A romance that would take its cause ,and guided from above and caring like a fool , gave it all to you Expecting in return a love so new and true
You cheated and lied your way right from the start So don't expect the place to be right in my heart

Chorus:

Thief of hearts, you said you'd never let me go You broke my heart, you promised me you'd never leave me from the start And all the dreams I had for you went much too far Your a thief of hearts

Remembering the moments we had, how could they slip away You promised me a love so true, how could it had to end this way I can't imagine you'd be so cruel to play me like a game It seems the love I thought we had could never be the same But oh, oh how I loved you so With words I tried to let you know Now its time for me to make a brand new start The scars left behind are hurting in my heart

why ooo why tell me why your a thief of my heart

Chorus (4x)
