Drown my soul in an unknown wanting
As Im lying low to lose control
With closed eyes holy words are spoken
Though their meaning slowly fades away

Come here my lover
Come, see me suffer
Hold me my lover
I need some cover

People say there is no use in hiding
When desires coming back again
The disease - the one that takes you higher
Haunting every time you're playing with fire

Come here my lover
Come, see me suffer
Hold me my lover
I need some cover

If I only could reach you to see through
The veil of secrecy
You would draw the conclusion it's illusion
There will be no remedy
If I only could reach you to see through
The veil of secrecy

Come here my lover
Come, see me suffer
Hold me my lover
I need some cover
