There's a train wreck
Picking up survivors from a plane crash
On the TV life
And it's a sad, static quotient

Trying to be a better person...
{something something}
All the accolytes are joking
But my faith in life's unbroken
Want to leave this room better than I found it
{something something}
When I feel like I couldn't even give a shit

All the hypocrites are joking
On their blind faith far from broken

There's a train wreck
Picking up survivors from a plane crash

On the TV life
And it's a sad, static quotient
Waiting for the sky to fall

It's getting harder to sleep when I lay my head down
{something something}
... sleep in town
All the accolytes are joking
On their blind faith far from broken

There's a train wreck
Picking up survivors from a plane crash
On the TV life
And it's a sad, static quotient
Waiting for the sky to fall

{a lot of something something }

... cruelest joke
My ancient thoughts feel new
