[Verse 1]

Here we go again, you're about to cry i'm about to listen to another niggas lie
Everytime you call, You want good advice
And everytime you ask i tell you everthings all right
First you let it go, then gave him one more chance this time makes number three, it's a different circumstance
Women on the side, babies mamas too
This time i cant hold back i think he's running games on you

[Chorus]

If you don't know where your man is
And he left you home with both of your kids
Girl yo mans a ho, a playa, certified ho
If he can't call home to explain
And all of a sudden everything has change
Girl your mans a ho. a playa, certified ho

[Verse 2]

You say your man gets off from work at nine
So why he turn his cell phone off till one clock at night
I'm trying to tell you like a friend, that if you think you smell fish
You do girlfriend, he's been cheating on you Don't take a blind man to see That your just holding on for what you wish that this could be
But see, every mans got his own set of rules
Lines that he wont cross if he's being true to you

[Chorus]

If he don't know where your man is
And he left you home with both of your kids
Girl yo mans a ho, a playa, certified ho
If he cant call home to explain
And all of a sudden everything has changed
Girl your mans a ho, a playa, certified ho

[Bridge]

I dont want to come across
Like i'm coming down on all of my playas
But if you got a family waiting at home
You should be there, you should be there
This goes out to all of my ladies and the fellas
Waiting for someone they love to come be there
Then it's certified, he's a certified ho

[Chorus Repeat]
