Well I learnt me a lesson working down at the station.
If your life's leading nowhere it may take re arranging It's the same boat we're all in so don't tell me it's sinking
Just sit down and row
Don't you tip it to-and-fro
You might get what you ask for in the end

Well it's hard to describe this way that I'm feeling
It blows through the floorboards
It comes through the ceiling
Don't you look in to a mirror and tell yourself your leaving
Just sit down and row
Don't you tip it to-and-fro
You may get what you ask for in the end

So here we are another day
Holding on for anything a light to shine our way
Here we go
The same old songs
Waiting for the world to changesomeone to sing along
But I don't hold my breath these days

Just sit down and row
Don't you tip it to-and-fro
You may get what you ask for in the end

So here we are another day
Holding on for anything a light to shine our way
Here we go
The same old songs
Waiting for the world to change someone to sing a long
But I don't hold my breath

Uh oh when we were young
And life was a playground in the sun
Uh oh when we were kids
Woah uh oh oh
Woah uh oh oh
Woah uh oh oh

So here we are another day
Holding on for anything a light to shine our way
Here we go
The same old songs
Waiting for the world to change someone to sing a long
But I don't hold my breath these days

And I don't hold my breath these days
