The air we breathe sometimes can be stale
The lives we lead sometimes will be failed

Statued tall alone we must stand
I thought you saw enough to be my friend
My friend?

I'm seeking low and watching to the end
Alive and bored, failing to pretend
I said hello, what is true must stand
The lies unfold inviting my revenge

And then you fail your weak insight with what you say
And then I close up what's inside when I'm the lonely one
When I'm the only one who feels
When I'm the lonely one
Am I the only one?

Statued tall alone we must stand
I thought you saw enough to be my friend
Fractured fall but you don't understand
I thought you saw enough to be my friend
My friend?
