I watch myself on TV,
I'm a faker, a paper clown
It's clear to all my friends that I habitually lie,
I just bring them down.
I claim proneness to exaggeration
But the truth lies in my frustration
The children of the night all pass me by
Have to dress myself up in brandy; in sleep I hide,

But I don't care how much I booze,
There ain't no way out, there ain't no way out
I don't care what you say, boy
There ain't no way out

I lose so many nights of sleep,
Worrying about my responsibility
Are the problems that screw me up,
Down to Him or me?
My ego will just confuse me,
One day it's going to up and use me
Dish me out another tailor-made compliment
Tell me about some destiny I can't prevent

How ever much I squirm,
There ain't no way out, there ain't no way out
I don't care what you say, boy
There ain't no way out, there ain't no way out

And the night comes down like a cell door closing Suddenly I realize that I'm writing now more honestly
While all alone with a bottle and my head up floating Far away from the phone and the conscience going on at me and on at me

And I don't care what you say
There ain't no way out, no way out, there ain't no way out.
Just drive me.

There ain't no way out....etc

I walk into a club and no one seems to know me
I have to tell the story of my life, to keep from being thrown out there and then
It all seems so futile, can't I live with some shy stud who disowned me
Can't face the fact that once you open up for real you become ambivalent
But once they let you in, there ain't no way out
There ain't no way out
I don't care what you say, boy
There ain't no way out
Take it from me.

Now the walls are all clawed and scratched
Like by some soul insane.
In the morning I hung-overly detach myself
I'll take no blame.
I just can't face my failure
I'm nothing but a well-fucked sailor.
You at home can easily decide what's right
By glancing oh so briefly at what I write.

But it don't help that you know, there ain't no way out
No way out
No way out
I don't care what you say, there ain't no way out

There ain't no way out, etc....
