Grey In Grey

Grey In Grey raindrops explode at blind windows grey in grey the sky sinks down at sticky roads Grey in Grey disolation is darkening my mind grey in grey no event stops the slow and long time yeah the feeling came like a wind like a wonderful warm breath leading to endless horizons why do I still love you black in black heaven is like a black hole and the breaking waves turn into working machines blue in blue falling into isolation
yeah the feeling has gone with the wind like a painful cold breath turn into blue eyes but I still miss you
