"Because"

Here I am where I never gone before
Feeling something so much more
Changing everything that I once planned
In my dreams
I can see my life unfold
I don't know what tomorrow holds
And there are things I still don't understand
But whatever times take me through
I want it to be with you

Because of the miracle of your heart in mine
Because of the mountains that you've helped to climb
Because of your faith in me and all things above
I'll move heaven and earth
Because of your love, I believe

Every path we ever cross, every love and every loss
Bring us closer to the things we want.
You taught me things that I had never known
At every turns on every winding road
You've been there when I start to fall
And if you are by side, there'll be nothing that I can do

Because of the miracle of your heart in mine
Because of the mountains that you've helped to climb
Because of your faith in me and all things above
I'll move heaven and earth
Because of your love, I believe
