The way I feel when I'm alone with you, oh
I never want to go but I go since you haven't let me in I'm very jealous of your TV screen, LCD
If you were looking you'd see me falling for you

When the day is lost for words
And the time is upon you
Can you swallow up the void
And make your house a home

When there's no one beside you
When there's no one beside you

Just so you know
I've been waiting and waiting for so long, maybe
In the cold you'd come home

Everytime you say hello to me I'm in shock
I've never met a girl so sweet, angelic and gentle
I long to see you so restlessly I watch the clock
Maybe I'm a fool so slow so sentimental

When the day is lost for words
And there's nothing inside of you
Can you swallow up the void
And make your house a home

When there's no one beside you
When there's no one beside you

And I just want to see you
Honestly, honestly
I just want to see you
Honestly, honestly

Just so you know
I've been waiting and waiting for so long, Baby
In the cold you'd come home
