Morning by night increase enlarge failure frightfully extends the heart
The void and the matter engine one to hold and to scatter our vessel is throwing out

A thousand days will pay the fee a million ways that just might hail the free
A siren is piercing through my head despite the gap we truly maybe just might be one
So we fall like a cascade the ground is dissolving like the love we made

Shoulder to shoulder like old friends we watch the horizon as the last sun descend Our trajectory had begun

might hail the free
truly maybe just might be one
the love we made
