Temporary thoughts you've let out
Sweet words escaped from your mouth.
They entered my ears.

Suddenly a lack of control
Disaster is about to unfold
As these sweet thoughts are told.

I won't depend on words, no more.
The ones that you claim are from the core

All I need is a real explanation to make things clear.
In all that do, there is no connection
With words that you share.

Temporary thoughts you've let out.
Seconds later you're lost in doubt.
You leave me no choice.

I won't depend on words, no more.
The ones that you claim are from the core

All I need is a real explanation to make things clear.
In all that do, there is no connection
With words that you share.

If you're not really sure that you mean them
Hold on to your thoughts tonight.
When you're really sure you should free them,
The future holds plenty of time.

All I need is a real explanation to make things clear.
In all that do, there is no connection
With words that you share.

(A real explanation)
(To make things clear)

(Is no connection)
(The words that you share)
