May the time to come bring you strength and courage
To overcome this sudden storm
Not a sound, just the sound of silence
There are other times now

Bring them on
Come what may
It cannot be another way

An empty house, such a strange seclusion
There's a fighter in you

Don't be scared
Don't give in
In time you'll break the brick within

This is your challenge and yours alone
For everyone else unknown

This is the moment you will decide
To rise and live your life
