Oh she, she's always so lovely
She's always just smiling as I take her hand walking down the street
Oh she, she's always a sweetheart
I don't know where to start to let her know all she means to me

And I, I'm always just quiet
She's always smiling, brightening my day
Every time we meet

And I'll write you a love song
A sweet little love song
To let you know all you mean to me
All you mean to me
I'm crossing my fingers
And I hope you'll never leave

Oh we, well maybe we're perfect
Like clowns in a circus, or acrobats, we'll be flying free
But I, I think about dying
When real late-night driving, that kind of peace
And all the world's asleep

But I, I don't want to go there
A long road to nowhere
If you're not sitting next to me

And I, I'll write you a love song
A sweet little love song
To let you know all you mean to me
All you mean to me
I'm crossing my fingers
Cause I hope you'll never leave

But I, well I know a widow
She lost something so close
I never want that happening to me
