Yeah you've hit glass ceiling
Yeah you've hurt your head
All these beginnings
None of them perfect
But bad seeks good
Like dark seeks light
Yesterday was wrong
But today is right

There's another world to come
A place we can believe
Where the clever eats the strong
Could we change it all
And could I tell them how I feel
Or should I wait
Should I save myself
Or is it already too late

Cuz there's a new age moving,
There's a new age coming
There's a new age moving
A new age moving in
There's a new clock running
Gonna let a new storm in
There's a new age moving
A new age moving in
A new age moving in

The last high school dance
Yeah no more of that
Cuz you've turned to the future
Hey you're done with the past
And if you can't understand
What's coming from within
Yeah bottomfeeders
A new age is moving in

A creature taking form
Yeah it's gonna knock you down
Now everybody listens
Both rich and poor

Could I tell them how I feel
Or should I wait
You better save yourself
Or is it already too late

Cuz there's a new age moving,
There's a new age coming
There's a new age moving
A new age moving in
We got a new clock running
Gonna let a new storm in
We got a new age moving
A new age moving in

In the black water where the dolphins used to roll
Floating as the last living on earth
The cities drowned, the trees as black as coal
It's a world turned alien
It's a world you recognize in pieces
It's a sea of burning flames, it's a sea of burning flames
And the stink that fouls the air - is yourself

New clock running,
Gonna let a new storm in,
Cuz there's a new age moving,
A new age moving in
