Winning hearts and turning heads
A simple beast that must be fed
More sin than evil
And it will again tonight

All these people on the ground
They all want to pull it down
Reach up their hands
And all it does is try to fly

Soon there'll be no difference
Between asleep and awake
It feels like the dream has entered
The life it lives everyday

It believes it's the only one hurting
The only one falling apart
And until it grows up to be human
It's breaking them heart by heart

Out of the sleep and into the world
A half forgotten half lost world
Only when unhappy
Will it reflect upon its time

It has to feel it in its gut
It has to bring itself to stop
It has to look at everything
With its own eyes

And soon there'll be no difference
Between asleep and awake
It feels like the dream has entered
The life it lives everyday

It believes it's the only one hurting
The only one falling apart
And until it grows up to be human
It's breaking them heart by heart
Breaking them heart by heart
Heart by heart

Breaking them heart by heart

It believes it's the only one hurting
The only one falling apart
But until it grows up to be human
It will be breaking them heart by heart

It saves itself by running
It saves itself with lies

It believes it's the only one hurting
The only one falling apart
And until it grows up to be human
It's breaking them heart by heart
It's breaking them heart by heart
Heart by heart
It's breaking them heart by heart
