You say you've paid the price
To end up where you are
And yet you tried to survive
And left you an old man's heart
And then it turned into nothing
And nothing you thought was right

You'll see what you need to see
And then it's lost

You can't explain what it means
'Cause it means too much
Sometimes you were close
But never enough to touch

You're playing hide and seek
But no one looked you see
And now your skin's like a razor
It wasn't meant to be
And for all the wrong reasons
Hey you were right all along real

You'll see what you need to see

You can't explain what it means
'Cause it means too much
Sometimes you're close
But never enough to touch
You can't explain what it means
'Cause it means so much
What you give is what you get
You better watch, watch your step
Watch the road ahead

You can't explain what it means
'Cause it means too much
Sometimes you're close
But never enough to touch
You can't explain what it means
'Cause it means so much
What you give is what you get

You better watch

Playing hide and seek
But no one looked you see
