Like a legend about to retire
Take a bath with an electric wire
Or feed myself to a grizzly bear
I wanna shed this skin
Find a new someone within
Throw out the old me - let a new one in

Drag me to the curb
'Fore the city's awake
Leave me on the street
For the junkman to take
Some people said
That I couldn't change
Some people said
That I would never rise again
And it feels like I won't find out

It's not about will or intentions
Just rise to the occasion
Ain't waiting for a thing,
That hasn't been here before
While I've been crawling on my knees
I've learned it isn't a disease
Pride always comes before a fall

Drag me to the curb
'Fore the city's awake
Leave me on the street
For the junkman to take
Some people said
That I couldn't change
Some people said
That I would never rise again
And it feels like I won't find out

You know what it feels like?
Feels like I won't find out
Feels like this everyday
Feels like I won't find out
All day, always
Feels like I won't find out

Drag me to the curb

Drag me to the curb
'Fore the city's awake
Leave me on the street
For the junkman to take
Some people said
That I couldn't change
Some people said
That I would never rise again
And it feels like I won't find out
Yeah it feels like I won't find out
