I've been thinking lately how time keeps moving on Can't believe the summer's come and gone
I'd hate to think I've wasted chances to convey
What we both know but I don't always say
And I just need to know you're listening

If this is the last song that I sing
Let it be honest
Let it be true
If this is the last song that I sing
I want it to say I love you
I love you

Seems our time together is easily consumed
Listening to everything that I've been going through I'm so tired of the thief that I've become
I'm ready now to change my ways
Sorry that it took so long

If this is the last song that I sing
Let it be honest
Let it be true
If this is the last song that I sing
I want it to say I love you
I love you
I love you

In everything I know you're listening

If this is the last song that I sing
Let it be honest
Let it be true
If this is the last song that I sing
I want it to say I love you
If this is the last song that I sing
Let it be honest
Let it be true
If this is the last song that I sing
I want it to say I love you
I want it to say I love you
I want it to say I love you
