Engineer: Aren't you a little young to build a rollercoaster

Phineas: Yes, yes I am

Eng.: Well I must say that I'm really quite impressed

But all your permits are in order

Don't forget the bricks and mortar

And if you need a power loader be my guest

But if I'm pressed

I'd say you look a little young to drive a forklift

Phineas: Yes, yes I am

Eng.: It's good to see a younger guy like you

Who's creative and ambitious

A little bigger than his britches

And who got a fresh, exciting point of view

Yes, it's true

That you seem a little young

To do the things that you do

Even with all the moxie you've got

Yes, you seem a little green

To be controlling this machinery

Phineas: Yeah, I get that a lot
