(Verse 1)

You're just a mirror in my life
And I'm embarrassed to look, cause I'm not living right
And I'm not living wrong, just kind of in the middle
I'm caught up in my own self, man made riddle
And I wanna live the life
But I'm just a shadow in the light
Hide in the trenches in the midst of a fight
Like a little boy scared
A little boy ill prepared
Raised by women and left in the lion's lair
And the hair stands on my back
Cause I know exactly what I lack
And the pack draws near to its prey
You seem far away, like the sun
Deciding not to come out today

(Chorus) - 2X

Call me closer to you, ooh draw me closer today
You seem so far away (far away) God will be along today

(Verse 2)

I've seen the movies and read books about you
But I still feel alone and often doubt you
Cause people die young, most got cut short
Girls molested before the first book report
I saw my first porn magazine when I was eight
Contorted my view of women, before my first date
And into every state, every country of late
No matter where you go, we all chase the same fate
Slated from failure, plated for jail
Hell is waiting, ride inside
Seven-Eleven to trail yeah
Home, I need a real home to rest
Cause I'm sick of slipping in the darkness

(Chorus) - 2X

Getting closer to God, in a tight situation

(Verse 3)

Today's of new

But my habits draw me to walk away from you

And it's so dang hard, all these girls

And all these cars, all these bars, and all these stars

And we all caught up

And I was brought up to be harder than that

I was brought up to not fall for the same trap

And I wanna live realer than death

Realer than the first man that received your breath

Draw me close Lord

(Hook)

Everyday I rise

And I wait to see

Your hand guiding me

Why do I make it so hard?

(Chorus) - 2X
