It was in the third cycle of earth when the invasion began A titanic force of ships filled the heavens and rushed upon the earth at Unimaginable speed bitter shrieks filled the whole sky, shook it, and tore it Open, letting in all the stench of hell the creatures were from another world
A tribe of nightmares of all shapes and bizarre deformities
They were a twisted, hunched mockery of the human form these backward, Violent beings all hungered to cut into the flesh of humans their lust For death was overpowering and their hands ached to kill and molest they Travelled by the thousands through the galaxy in search of planets that Would give them pleasure Planets... like... EARTH!!!

Vestige light that glows, hostile entities Fires sent from doom, the promised enemies Darkness fills the land, terror fills your eyes There's no escape from the creatures of the sky (Destroy!!!)

Naked skulls on fire, death inside their eyes
A foul smelling race, so easily despised Angry hunting beasts, hungry 'rebel scum' Teeth to rip your throats, the invasion has begun (Destroy!!!)

Beat you to the ground, eat your burning flesh
The starving beasts of hell will surely will bring you death

Aliens rape the world!

Men lay still in gore, blood stained city walls Heard throughout the land, with desperate fearful calls

Severed limbs and souls, senseless ugly dreams Battle Plan: Destruct... in cold and bloody screams!

The creatures descended from the skies by the thousands to rape and pillage The earth men and women ran for their lifes - defenseless, terrified of These foul-smelling creatures with bloodthirsty appetites.
All humanity was at war with these beasts for inflicting an unholy reign of Terror upon the world Man had never before experienced a more gruesome terror than now, be eaten Alive! their cities were burned, their women were raped, children tortured And beaten to death. Not one man on earth was spared from their humiliation Dead cities were moaning and crying for help. It would never come
The smell of blood choked the earth... 'till it breathed no more

The time had come at last, their thirst for blood was quenched,
For when they left the earth they left a bloody stench!
Up to their ships of doom to travel through the night
These bloody beasts of hell would find another fight (Destroy!!!)

Sickness filled the land, survivors had no rest Perils to endure, dangers worse than death Trying to rebuild your world of blood and sweat Visions filled your minds that you would not forget

Aliens raped the world!
