I do my best thinking when I'm by myself
I do my best drinking when I'm with someone else
I do my best singing when I'm all alone
And the blood comes down like sweat from my bones
(yeah)
So my family tree may have a broken limb
I swore to the heavens never to go back again
Just give me some matches and a twist of fate
And I'll burn down this place, I'll burn down this place
'Cause there's too many people on my stage
I never did think it would work out this way
But there's too many people on my stage
You can break my heart
You can dry my soul
But the well runs deep and it's twice as old
I love my brother and I love my home
So just go ahead stranger, leave me alone
Chorus
You gotta believe with a little bit of faith
Never did think, never did think, never did, never did
