

Pink Razors

"Dogs In Headlocks"

Visit "Dogs In Headlocks" on MotoLyrics.com

On the day you got evicted, it lacked a certain
Sadness, some feeling of depression that we all Expected. Maybe it was just me, maybe I'm the Only one who doesn't see this as an ending. On
The day we finally moved away I felt some Liberation, it might take deliberation, we're Willing and unstable. Maybe it was just me, maybe
I'm the only one who knows when we're all Pretending. What's your address? What's your Phone number? What's some way that I can keep In touch? Forgot your address. Forgot your Phone number, and I know that out of reach
Means out of touch--when you're more than two Blocks away, and it's too hot to ride your bike
Today, and work wore me out yesterday, and I Realize I share the blame. Maybe it was just Me, maybe I'm the only one who saw more than
Geography, convenience wasn't all it offered me,
Around the corner and down the street.

Visit Pink Razors page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.